SUMMARY

A possible military installation covering approximately 35 acres is located in the center of Novovolynsk adjacent to the city stadium and park (Figure 1). The installation is divided into two parts, each separately secured by a fence (Figures 2 and 3). Roads connect the two areas. Area D1 contains one administration barracks building, two barracks, two storage buildings, and an athletic field. Area D2 contains two administration barracks buildings, two barracks buildings, a motor vehicle storage/maintenance building, two storage buildings, and four support buildings.

The area is connected to the city road network with good all-weather roads. No rail or airfield facilities are within the barracks area.

The installation is covered by KEYHOLE missions between [REDACTED]. No changes were observed during this period.
